NOON

Press Release April 2026

News from Noon Light

Castor Floor Lamp
A minimalist form with many possibilities – Castor reinterprets the classic conical lampshade. The shade is adjustable, helping direct light exactly where it's needed. Part of the design process focused on achieving harmony between the stand and the shade at the various angles it can be set.

Castor Table Lamp
A minimalist form with many possibilities – Castor reinterprets the classic conical lampshade. The shade is adjustable, helping direct light exactly where it's needed. Part of the design process focused on achieving harmony between the stand and the shade at the various angles it can be set.

Stella Pendant Lamp
A classic metal hemisphere, reimagined by Alexander Lervik with a new identity. The cable meets the shade in an unexpected way, where the cable attachment itself becomes a strong and defining feature of the design.
